

About 3Colibrís

We are an organization and media that contributes to the development in the conversion and logistics of products from peasant, family and community and / or agroecological agriculture in Latin America. We work for the construction of a sustainable field and connected to the city in Colombia and Latin America, we seek and involve producers of food and agro-ecological products, therefore, healthy, to facilitate access for consumers. We visit and accompany food producers to improve their production channels and we guarantee that we work with ethical and responsible organizations.

About Ana Prada

Founder of 3colibris. Business administrator and sociologist from the Javeriana University of Bogotá, Fellow of the International Training in Dialogue and Mediation at the University of Uppsala and the International Course on Food Systems at the University of Wageningen. Have worked for Caritas Colombiana in relation to the implementation of "Article One" of the Peace Accords. Has worked on projects for UNDP, UNFAO, EU and the Suyusama Foundation.